PICKENS, S. C.

OCTOBER 5, 1916.

Entered at Pickens Postoffice as Second Class Mail Matter.

$1 PER YEAR, INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE

GARY HIOTT, Manager.

Obituary notices and tributes of respect for not over one hundred words will be printed free of charge. All over that number must be paid for at the rate of one cent a word. Cash to accompany manuscript. Cards of thanks published for one-half cent a word.

'Tis said the price of gasoline is going down. But who wants to drink gasoline?

THE SENTINEL appreciates your patronage. We'll do our best in every way to deserve it.

MR. HUGHES deserted a comfortable seat on the bench for some very rough riding on the stump.

CANDIDATE HUGHES says he "is a friend of everybody." Keeper, sweep out padded cell 4-11-44!

BUT most of those stories about Germany's food troubles have a Petrograd, Paris or London dateline.

A MAN in Virginia has been sent to jail for having two wives. He loved not wisely, but two well.

WHAT has become of the old-fashioned newspaper that used to ask the people to buy a bale of cotton at 10c per?

SOMETHING for South Carolinians not to worry about: Eleven thousand brewery workers in New York threaten to go on strike.

WONDER what some of our exchanges will do for wrapping paper, now that the 'steemed Congressional Record is out of commission for a brief spell?

FRED H. DOMINICK, congressman-elect from this Third district, is in New York for a short vacation and has tendered his services to the national Democratic committee for speeches in the north.

It has been discovered that an aviator at an altitude of 10,000 feet can not whistle. That's nothing; we know lots of people who can't whistle at all at any altitude. But is so hard to make some of them realize it.

MOST everything necessary for one's existence and comfort these days has advanced in price, but the laborer's wage remains stationary or is lowered; consequently he has to do without many of them or go on strike.

THE boll weevil is coming! Prof. A. F. Conradi of Clemson college, who knows all about bugs and other things which pesticates farmers, says this pest will be "in our midst" at the close of the present cotton season.

THE date of registration has been extended from October 1 to October 7, by order of the governor. Therefore, all who have so far failed to get their names on the books should do so not later than Saturday next, October 7. That is, if you want to vote at the general election in November, and we presume you do.

BEFORE South Carolina can participate in the Federal road aid fund it will be necessary for her to establish by law a state highway department. That is the opinion recently given by C. W. Boyle, acting solicitor at Washington. Therefore it would seem to be up to the incoming legislature to create a state highway department.

OUR young friend, Ben G. Field, who was ordained to the ministry last Friday at Secona church, is a young man of much promise. He has been teaching school for several years. He married Miss Anna, daughter of Mr. Joseph Looper of Mt. Carmel community. Mr. Field is a son of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Field of this county. We wish for him abundant success in his God-given work.

NEXT Saturday, October 7, will mark the 136th anniversary of the battle of Kings Mountain, in North Carolina. Many men of note will be present this year, including Governor Stuart of Virginia, who will be the principal speaker of the day; Governor Craig of North Carolina and staff. Governor Manning is also on the program for a speech.

To show how the cost of print paper has risen since the European war began, Henry Morganthau, treasurer of the national Democratic campaign committee, states that the printing bill for campaign purposes will be three times as much as it was in 1912. Two years ago paper to print newspapers on cost about two and one-eighth cents a pound. This week the same paper is quoted at six cents a pound by the paper dealers.

OUR WEEKLY RIDDLE.—Why are good intentions like fainting ladies? All they want is carrying out.

GOODBYE, Doodle bugs, Come again next fall; We'll sure greet you— Big bugs, little bugs and all.

WHICH TO CHOOSE IN BUYING MERCHANDISE:

Quality at the Advanced Prices—OR—Inferior Merchandise at the Old Prices.

This is a period of higher prices for everything. Not only is merchandise higher in price, but everything raised on the farm is much higher in price than a few years ago. Take the price of cotton today—cotton seed, corn, oats, wheat, rye, chickens and eggs, and in fact everything raised on the farm, and you will find that these products are almost double in price to what they were two years ago; and this is as it should be, for when the farmer prospers we all do.

Every line of merchandise sold in a store has advanced some, but the advance has not been so great as on cotton and farm products.

Our fall stock of Dry Goods, Clothing, Shoes, etc., is coming in every day, and in buying our fall goods we have stuck to quality and bought the best goods that money could buy, rather than buy cheap and inferior goods at a lower price.

We have built up a reputation for selling good, reliable merchandise, and we do not care to handle cheap, inferior goods, and it certainly does not pay the consumer to buy them.

Our Dry Goods are the same reliable lines we have always handled, colors absolutely fast, and at a very small advance in price.

A large part of our fall goods were bought early, before the advance in prices, and these goods will be sold our customers at the old prices. Our stock of fall and winter goods will be more complete this fall than ever before, and we will be well fixed to supply our customers with good, dependable merchandise at reasonable prices.

Yours truly,

What One Bale of Cotton Did

One of our good farmer friends brought a bale of cotton and the seed to town a few days ago and sold it, paid his guano bill, paid for a wagon, paid two drug bills and all his store accounts and went home with money jingling in his pocket. When a bale of cotton will do that much the wife or daughter has a good chance to get a nice bill of furniture.

Don't fail to see our line when in town. Our furniture trade is fine and we keep a mighty nice line.

A new shipment of Iron Beds from $4.50 to $12.50 each.

Edwin L. Bolt & Company

Are showing the largest lines of Dry Goods, Shoes, Clothing, Millinery, etc., ever brought to Easley. We do not say this in a boastful way, but we believe it is a fact. Or today you hear high prices and scarcity of m. Probably this is true with the majority of stores, but with Edwin L. Bolt & Company. They have the goods, and with the small exception of a few items in SHOES and PIECE GOODS the prices are the same as you have been accustomed to pay heretofore. It will certainly pay you to come many miles to do your fall trading at this store. We will not only save you money but will have a large stock to select from.

We have more than $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) worth of seasonable merchandise in stock at the present time, bought during the early part of July, when cotton was around the 10c mark. Today cotton is near 16c, an advance of about 50 per cent, and all kinds of DRY GOODS have advanced accordingly. See prices below and come and see for yourself:
